

WALTON BEAN

PROFESSOR OF HISTORY
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY

CALIFORNIA

AN INTERPRETIVE HISTORY

CALIFORNIA

AN INTERPRETIVE HISTORY

WALTON BEAN

*Professor of History
University of California, Berkeley*

McGRAW-HILL BOOK COMPANY

New York San Francisco St. Louis
Toronto London Sydney

CALIFORNIA

AN INTERPRETIVE HISTORY

WALTER D. DILL

The story of California's growth has been a part of American history. Since the Union it was an unprecedented growth a century later, the nations of the world and income.

California's early American people, their fascination, tribute to their colorful more fully than also analyzes the developments of the

The book is written in a readable style, and it explains the meanings of events, recounting them. It also analyzes the economic and cultural forces and economic ones. An interpretation of many controversial and such as racism, vig

To BETH, my wife, with love

CALIFORNIA: AN INTERPRETIVE HISTORY

Copyright © 1968 by McGraw-Hill, Inc. All rights reserved.
No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior written permission of the publisher. Printed in the U.S.A.

Library of Congress catalog card number: 68-11601

56789 PECZ 7543210

04221